The McCloud Blackberry Festival began in the 1940's as a celebration of the end of harvest season for the local cash farm crop, blackberries. Since harvest season was completed just before July 4th, when a community picnic had been held since the town was founded in 1895, the two were combined to create the annual Blackberry festival.

While blackberry farming may no longer be the agricultural strength of McCloud, the festival celebrated each year continues to be an exciting event for the town and draws thousands of attendees from throughout the nation. The festival includes a carnival, car show, Blackberry Queen contest, nightly entertainment and much more. We hope that you will make plans now to be a part of the 2013 McCloud Blackberry Festival.
